CUPID ON THE JOB

The elopement annual report of the registrar-general of Britain has never been included among the best sellers, but an inquisitive newspaperman with a romantic turn of mind has put it in the way of being a far more popular volume than heretofore among those of the fair sex, anyway. The book shows that Britain, despite the record number of divorces, is surrendering to Cupid in greater numbers than at any other time in history, says the Winnipeg Tribune.

During 1919 there were 369,411 marriages in England and Wales, which constitutes a low record, just as 1917 constituted a low one, and the number of young widows who have cast the net over the heads of eligible young men was nearly eleven times as many, at the age of 25, as in 1911, and nearly thirty-one times as many between 25 and 30, as in that year.

Evidently experience counts for a good deal, and Samuel Weller was a keen judge of the dangers of proximity to those temporarily deprived of the sturdy oak. And the age doesn't seem to matter much. Widows of 45 have doubled their score over the 1911 figures.

The suggestion that the war has caused the exalting movement by the fair, fat and fiery brigade is dismissed by the registrar-general himself, who dogmatically asserts that the increase is too great to be accounted for in that way.

REGULAR MEETING OF BOARD OF TRADE

Deals With Many Subjects of Interest to the City and District

The Board of Trade meeting Monday evening proved to be one of the largest the Board has held for some time. The keenest interest was taken in the proceedings. Over one hundred members have been signed up for the current year; nearly half of these were in attendance, as follows: W. J. Botterill, president, in the chair; A. T. Stephenson, secretary; J. Brander, J. Malcolm, H. J. Bayley, R. G. Dawe, T. H. Edis, E. S. Hogg, F. Turnbull, W. E. Treuman, W. V. Davies, L. A. Parry, Fitzsimmons, Geo. Best, H. P. Lawrence, R. L. Gaetz, C. D. Locke, J. R. McClure, Geo. Orme, E. Howlett, J. F. Goring, W. Spence, Geo. Fleming, Jno. McMillan, F. W. Galbraith, C. C. Gamble, S. V. Day, Gus McPherson, A. H. Heyworth, R. B. Welliver, O. W. Thorne, C. T. Elme, H. Willson, P. E. Kent, E. M. Smith, E. G. Johns, W. P. Kenaley, Weaver, J. G. Fulton, J. A. Hale, A. R. Gibson, W. J. Stephenson, A. H. Russell, G. H. Lindsay, Dr. DeLong.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.
The Secretary read the following report on the work done since the last meeting:

1. Canadian National Railways.
We interviewed Superintendent Brown in Edmonton regarding operation of the spur into Red Deer, and while we did not get any definite information as to when the line would be operated, Mr. Brown informed us that the line would be ballasted this spring as soon as a gravel pit near Burbank was opened up. We urged an improved service west and were informed that the company was considering putting on a tri-weekly service for this summer. We have written Chief Engineer Dixon, Winnipeg, asking for building of station immediately and early operation.

2. Oil Warehouse and Depot.
After considerable correspondence and negotiation, the British American Oil Company, Ltd., have themselves secured a satisfactory site on the C. N. Ry. and we are informed that the company will build their tanks and warehouse very soon.

3. Meat Packing Concern—
We have had some correspondence with a meat packing concern concerning locating in Red Deer, and are following the matter up and giving all information possible. The question has not developed far enough to have any definite proposal to consider and nothing may come of it, but if it progresses favorably the proposition will be laid before the Council of the Board at once.

4. Stocking Sylvan Lake.
Following up our work of last year on this question, when we took the opens.

Correspondence with Hon. Duncan Marshall re. his lecture, and the British-American Oil Co. re. locating here, was laid on the table.
Chairman Chamber of Commerce wrote submitting resolutions on labor conditions.
E. W. Meers, Wimbourne and Milneron Local, U.F.A., wrote re. Acme line.

The C.N.R. could give no definite information on when the line would be operating into Red Deer.
Superintendent Brown assured the Secretary recently that the junction would be built south of Ailsa, and that Red Deer traffic would be accepted for G.T.P. points via that junction.
The President reported an interview with Supt. Jamieson, of the C.P.R., who is sympathetic to the interests of Red Deer.

An account for $63 from the C.P.R. for the industrial spur was passed, and $14.00 accepted as yearly rental of the portion used by the Smith Lumber Co.

The Associated Boards of Trade decline to endorse the Winnipeg coal proposition.

MISCELLANEOUS

The following accounts were passed:
E. A. Towe $17.75; Mechanical Garage, $3.00; News, Pub. Co. $13.03.

The swimming pool committee is marking time until the Soldiers' memorial matter is settled.

Nothing official has been received regarding location of aerodrome here yet.

A communication will be sent to Geo. Ross, Chief post office superintendent, to delay in opening the office here.

Some members of the Board were not any too sure that they would like to see the Lacombe and Bladman Valley Railway extended from Rimbey to Edmonton, lest it might prejudice the building of the "S" line later.

The president introduced 8 new members. Members McPherson, Parry, and Gibson spoke briefly, stating that they were willing to do all they could for the Board.

C. C. Gamble, at Mr. Weaver's request, brought up the matter of whether or not he should be allowed to hold his business station open for business on Sunday. The president and secretary will confer with the authorities.

On motion of C. C. Gamble and John McMillan, the Board again urged the claims of Red Deer for a Normal School at some future date.

Senator Michener will be requested to use his influence in Ottawa toward the construction of the Acme branch of the C.P.R., as the result of a resolution submitted by R. L. Gaetz and Dr. DeLong.

E. G. Johns and P. E. Kent fathered a resolution instructing the secretary to communicate with J. J. Gaetz, M.L.A., regarding the deplorable condition of McGregor Hill and the necessity for improvements there.

Inspector Gibson inquired regarding the old Indian school farm, and was informed that it had been rented for this year, but may yet be used for educational work.

Dr. DeLong suggested that the city specialize in good streets and civic scenery. Commissioner Stephenson thought that Red Deer had as clean streets as any place in Alberta, especially Gaetz Ave. where the cut the heart out of the roads in wet weather unless they are gravelled, and that costs a lot of money.

The city is doing the best it can under the circumstances existing now.

The Board adjourned at 10.45.

The resolutions committee was G. W. Smith, Ralph Patterson and H. Wallace.

H. A. Malcolm, Insultist, secretary of the Red Deer Federal constituency organization, congratulated the convention on the activity displayed inasmuch as this was the second constituency in Alberta to call such a convention.

Stellar convention recently, with 84 delegates in attendance, organized. Some of the delegates there thought that the present government was pretty good, both as to laws and administration. Most of the delegates, however, were very critical, especially of the Attorney General's department; they were afraid that all laws would be brought into disrepute through the loose administration of the Liquor Act.

Since Stellar had organized, the organization there, wanted to know what to say, and why. The need of further organization, therefore, he came evident. Even admitting that the present government was giving good laws and good administration, we are not being governed democratically.

DISCUSSIONS

The tentative platform framed at the Federal convention last fall was with the basis of the proposed platform.

The resolution to organize the constituency on political lines was carried unanimously without debate.

Regarding taxation, Mr. Malcolm thought it advisable that various governments and municipalities should recognize an exclusive field of taxation for each, and not overlap.

He favored making the tax on unimproved land equal to the full rental value of the land, and not over 50 per cent.

Ralph Patterson backed Mr. Wallace in his contentions, and told of observations he had made. He would pay anything if they will teach the curriculum and deliver the goods.

peeled to go to school. Qualifications rather than age should control.

Another storm was raised when the question of doctors' fees was mooted.

Mr. Robson raised the point and contended that doctors' fees should be regulated by the government.

Mr. Patterson cited what he characterized as glaring overcharges. A doctor had made two trips 12 miles out and charged $83.90 for doing so. Another farmer had been practically put out of business as a result of a $500 or $600 doctor bill last year.

Mr. Wallace then advanced the view that doctors should be employed by the State; his theory was well supported by several other delegates.

R. A. VanSlyke thought the Chinese system had ours beaten. He stated that in China the doctor was paid when he kept people well; if they got sick he lost his pay. He did not think that medical services should be commercialized. You could not blame a doctor for wanting to collect his accounts. The government should see that he was paid and then demand the service.

J. E. Lundberg urged for complete nationalization of the entire medical profession. We must change the system; we can't blame the doctors.

G. W. Smith scented danger in an effort to regulate doctors' fees. Doctors could find all kinds of excuses why they should not attend cases if the fees were not satisfactory.

Mr. McKinnon urged for better distribution of doctors so that such long trips would not be necessary.

Mr. McKinnon contended that it was necessary to get rid of the whole profiteering system. Not high profits but high human beings must be the controlling motive.

On the subject of banking, J. C. O'Neil argued that the present bank system should be nationalized.

Mr. Malcolm said the idea was to establish a system of rural credits such as they now have in Manitoba.

The subject of the recall was the source of another argument.

Mr. Miller started the ball rolling by saying he did not approve of the idea of nominating a man and asking him to sign his resignation at one and the same time.

Scott Hastie thought if the man was a proper candidate he would not hesitate to sign his resignation.

This was followed by an impassioned appeal by Mr. Wallace. He begged them to put their confidence in the man—away with suspicion; let him go ahead if the candidate had the interests of the U.F.A. at heart before he was nominated, he would not go very far wrong afterward.

Mr. Wallace would never sign any such resignation as far as he was concerned.

R. A. VanSlyke regarded the signed resignation as the candidate's bond. It was customary in most commercial enterprises for a man to give a bond to secure the employer against financial loss.

The recall was a bond for the political loss. At the close of each session the member should give an account of his actions, and then if his course was not satisfactory he should be retired.

Mr. Miller did not think it was fair that two or three with a personal grudge should be able to stir up opposition and so unsettle what might be a perfectly good member.

Mr. Lundberg referred to the failure of President Wilson to get his fourteen points all recognized at the peace conference. He thought that if the United States had been able to send another man to the peace conference, the world would have been better off.

He regarded the recall as fully democratic.

Mr. Shonta said that every business institution must use the recall. If an agent does not do what he is told he must be sent home. Wilson's recall we have no strings on our representatives; we jump into the wagon and throw the loads away.

Scott Hastie was proud of the U. F. A. platform because it had the recall in it. The social problems must be faced. He was afraid that some secondhand politicians would be panned off on the farmers.

His Local was prepared to support any honest-to-God farmers' candidate.

Mr. Wallace predicted that the recall would never be in the platform to stay. Proportional representation he regarded as ample protection for the electorate. He urged the convention to be idealistic as well as democratic. He honored personality and would not sell his judgment.

Mr. McPherson thought that if the candidate was a man of proper principles we didn't need the recall. On the other hand Mr. Gaetz said he had always voted for who he considered the best man but sometimes his confidence had been betrayed. Mr. Gaetz explained that the intention of the recall was that a man's record would be reviewed at the end of the session.

Mr. Miller contended that trouble in the past had arisen from the fact that men couldn't trust each other.

Mr. A. VanSlyke said that no one would think of saying to a hired man, "There, now I have hired you for a year; go ahead and do as you please."

Running a government should surely be as practical as running your own farm. We must carry on our business for the pursuit of happiness.

In introducing the resolution to reduce the number of parliamentary representatives, Mr. Wallace thought the ordinary private member did not have very much to say anyway in the affairs of state. The deputy ministers were the business, and it is all cut and dried before our honorable members go near the sessions. Our members are our brokers. Fifteen men were ample if selected by proportional representation.

T. B. Miller introduced the pipe line charter question, and characterized the proposed legislation as inequitable. It was safe, he considered, to let the blanket charters on general principles.

Matters of organization and delegates were duly completed. The delegates decided to pool their railroad fares, the pool being figured at $1.30 per delegate.

The meeting lasted about four and a half hours, and was considered to be very successful.

ASPECTS AND CAUSES OF PRESENT ECONOMIC CONDITIONSC. H. Snell Presents His Viewpoint at the Brotherhood, Sunday Afternoon

The predictions of most prominent speakers and writers have broken down. Men of repute in 1914 told us that one or two years of such wholesale destruction as then was entailed would see the economic and financial collapse of all the nations engaged in the deadly struggle. But the war kept going beyond its allotted span, and the productive forces behind the actual fighting seemed limitless. During one day toward the close of the War British troops alone used nearly a million shells, 40,000 tons or more than was used during the whole 3½ years of the Boer war.

Such war records of production were made in spite of the fact that millions of the men were withdrawn from industry records that would have been deemed impossible in pre-war days. Following the war, however, the articles, editorials, and pamphlets urged that production be speeded up to repair the losses sustained; the world's lands were bare, and the warehouses empty. Moreover, a large part of France, Belgium and other countries had been overrun, and it appeared as though it would take a generation to repair the damage and overtake the normal requirements of the race.

This extract from a Canadian meat packer's pamphlet is typical: "The individual investigations of each firm totalling and summed up show that market prospects for Canadian meats for the next 10 years at least are more favorable than ever before in the history of the packing business."

The plausible prediction of a year ago is falsified by the events of today. There is no market for stock or any other commodity. We find over a million unemployed in Britain, and 3½ millions in Canada and the U.S., and millions more working on short time. Every industrial nation in the world is similarly affected. The wage earner suffers most, probably the farmer is a close second. Only the farmer cannot be told to quit his job, unless it be by the sheriff. With the wage earner and the farmer in such straits, business of all kinds is bound to suffer.

Dun's and Bradstreet's show an increasing number of failures; there are also heavy losses in depreciation of stocks and credits. Manufacturers feel it, for where there is no business, there are no profits. The big capitalists however does not suffer; he only waits till the tide turns and industry starts again.

We need intelligent, constructive criticism in days like these. The present industrial situation is serious. For over a hundred years business booms and depressions have alternated regularly. We have not forgotten the year 1914 after the two previous boom years. Similarly the years 1907-8 with their unemployment and destitution, also the period following the Crimean war. The present depression seems to be more serious and universal than any of these.

Lloyd George declared in a speech during the war that British soldiers could never be asked to go back to the struggles and hardships of pre-war days, but the British worker and the Canadian farmer have been rudely jolted in the past year.

Some will say that the present conditions are a part of the natural order of things and cannot be regulated. Most of us will not endorse this fatalistic view. These problems must yield before intelligent application of the laws that govern social development.

To say that the big capitalist engineers these depressions in order to squeeze out his smaller competitors is hardly worthy of consideration; he merely makes the most of his opportunities when the conditions arise. The conditions are not sufficiently profitable for him to seek them, even if he could engineer matters to bring them about.

The influence of the tariff is negligible, despite all that is said on the subject. Free trade Britain has its millions of unemployed. Protectionists in Canada and U.S. have their army of unemployed. Tariffs won't settle it.

Lack of demand is one of the outstanding features. Everyone has goods to sell, but nobody wants to buy. Not because there is no need, but because many who need have no money to buy. Thousands in the world are needing the simple necessities of life but cannot get them because they lack the cash.

As soon as the prospect of profits disappears, production is curtailed. The markets of the world are glutted. C. H. Douglas in "Credit Power and Democracy" expresses the idea, when he says, "The difficulties of obtaining foreign markets and the falling off of purchasing at home are the cause of the present crisis. The world is not suffering from under production; the most pressing problem as every manufacturer knows, is to find customers to take the glut of goods."

Nor yet is the world suffering from over production, since most people even in this country are unable to buy half the things that they need. In other words it is not production but distribution that has broken down.

The problem arises from the fact that the worker is a seller of his labor power, and at the same time the purchaser of the things he makes. The Canada Year Book, relating to Canadian manufactures, says that:

"The value of products covering the various industries, including food products, textile, iron and steel, timber, lumber, leather, paper and printing, chemicals, glass, tobacco, vehicles, ships, etc., was 2,016 millions, raw materials used were 1,606 millions, leaving the value added in manufacturing 1410 millions."

Of this amount 555 millions were paid in wages and salaries, leaving a balance of 855 millions. Thus the new value created is 1410 millions which is of course, in the form of food stuffs, clothing, boots, crockery, furniture, steel work, ships, etc. These commodities are for sale. If the workers spend all their wages, they can only buy 555 million dollars' worth; hence the balance must be sold to somebody else. Business is good just so long as this balance can be disposed of. In normal times it is used for new commercial and industrial development. The great war was the pre-eminent example of the consumption of surplus products, and the shortage at the end of the war caused an enormous industrial and commercial boom which lasted for practically two years after the war.

Industrial development and enormous extravagance of the period were satisfied, and a surplus accumulated, which involves a keener competition to sell the goods; next follows the reduction of wages in an effort to reduce costs. The markets being glutted, the factories close and unemployment ensues. This in turn reduces the demand and strangles industry still further. Economy is urged from press and platform, yet every reduction in consumption or labor tends to lower wages and further decrease the demand. Examination of statistics shows that there has been an enormous decline in the amount of securities issued in Canada within the past year or two; the decline in securities, however, coincided strikingly with the decrease in business during the same period. It will require an enormous increase in consumption to free the market from its glutted condition. War was the great customer of the farmers, and when peace was signed the customer died. The surplus accumulated must be used by somehow, perhaps the quicker the better. It will probably work off more or less depreciated in value, until production and exchange gradually begin to move again, as they have in previous crises.

Most farmers are working with outside financial backing; they must sell to meet liabilities, and thus they too contribute to the surplus product to be worked off.

Nearly everyone agrees that there is something fundamentally wrong with our present social system. Society possesses everything necessary to abundantly supply all the wants of all her children, and yet poverty stalks abroad in the midst of plenty. Co-operation is our only hope. Competition has been the mainspring of our social and industrial development. The blind, unreasoning, destructive law of competition must be replaced by those who have the law of co-operation. There is a growing conviction among all classes that the solution of the problem rests with the masses of the people, as evidence the farmer movements, in this country and in other countries, in Britain. The masses of the British workers do not favor communism or anything of that kind, but are determined that there shall be a change from existing industrial conditions. The British Labor party program says that "The first principle of the Labor party is the securing to every member of the community, in good times and bad alike, of all the requisites of healthy life and worthy citizenship."

Mr. Snell's paper was thoroughly enjoyed by those who braved the unfavorable weather to be present at the meeting.

The chairman, R. L. Gaetz, referred to how radically wrong most people had been regarding the conditions arising out of the war. There was some discussion, but very little was taken with the ideas expressed in Mr. Snell's carefully prepared treatment of the case.

NOTES OF INTEREST

ECKVILLE

The old schoolhouse building which was recently purchased for the purpose of converting it into a church building, has been successfully moved into town and placed upon the church site. The church board wish to express their thanks to the farmers who donated their time and teams in the moving. Much credit is due to Mr. Gaetz for his services and energy in the work of moving and superintending of the work.

The church was opened on Easter Sunday with an Easter song service, when there was a large attendance. The programme consisted of singing and recitations by the children and adults.

Mr. McKechnie, who has been appointed to this field, is expected to be in Eckville early in April.

The Ladies' Auxiliary paid over to the church funds the sum of $120 from the proceeds of their recent supper and entertainment.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Perry in the loss of their baby boy, who died on Thursday last.

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Litt on Tuesday evening.

A farewell party was given to Mr. and Mrs. Litt on Thursday in the town hall on the occasion of their leaving for Bentley. A very enjoyable time was spent. A presentation was made to Mr. and Mrs. Litt as a memento of the occasion.

One of our old timers, Mr. Harry Palmer, was a visitor in town this week.

IS THANKFUL FOR FRIEND'S ADVICE

Vancouver Woman Says Tanlac Has Entirely Relieved Her of Nervous Indigestion.

"I can't begin to express my gratitude to Tanlac for the wonderful improvement it has made in my health," said Mrs. H. Barnes, of 536 Cambie Street, Vancouver, B.C.

"Even before I came to this country from England five years ago my stomach gave me a lot of trouble and has been getting worse ever since. I couldn't eat a thing without suffering from gas and palpitations. I was troubled almost every day with fearful headaches and dizzy spells. Pains in my back made it almost impossible for me to sleep over and I could get but very little sleep at night. I always felt tired, and had no energy, fell off in weight and became very weak, and had tried so many things without getting any help that I had almost given up hope.

"I shall always be thankful that I took a friend's advice and tried Tanlac, for four bottles of the medicine have made me feel like a different woman. My appetite is now fine, and I can eat whatever I want and never have a sign of indigestion. I am no longer troubled with headaches and dizzy spells, and haven't an ache or a pain of any kind. I sleep fine all night and get up in the mornings fresh and full of energy. The wonderful change in my health seems almost too good to be true. I owe it all to Tanlac and never intend to be without it after this."

Tanlac is sold in Red Deer by Getz-Cornett Drug & Book Co., and by the leading druggist in every town.

PERMISSION FOR ESMONDE TO LAND WILL BE REFUSED.

Vancouver, March 30.—Osmond T. Gratton Esmonde, alleged Sinn Féin envoy to New Zealand and Australia, who was refused a landing in the latter country, and who is now aboard the steamer Makara, due in Vancouver this evening from Sydney, N.S.W., will be refused admission to the Dominion. Definite instructions to this effect have been received here from Ottawa, it is said.

It is stated that Esmonde may have secured transportation to Seattle, and it has been the immigration authorities will see him safely aboard the boat for the American city.

Mr. Esmonde sailed on the steamer Makara from this port several months ago on his way from Ireland to Australia. Upon the boat's arrival at Sydney, the commonwealth government would not allow him to land. He made every effort to do so but without avail. A regulation passed by the commonwealth government made it necessary for every person of British nationality to take the oath of allegiance, but this Esmonde refused to do.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION MADE STARTLING CUTS IN ASSESSMENT ROLLS OF MANY ALBERTA TOWNS

FIGURES WERE SECURED FOR PURPOSE OF LEVYING PROVINCIAL TAXATION; OVER MILLION DOLLARS TAKEN OFF RED DEER TOTAL; BIG CHANGE AT BEVERLY

Equalized assessment values of lands in cities in Alberta for the purpose of provincial taxation all show big reductions as compared to the municipal assessments in the report of the new provincial board of equalization which was laid on the table of the legislature Wednesday afternoon by Hon. C. R. Mitchell, provincial treasurer.

The comparative lists of the equalized assessed values made by the board and the municipal assessed value of land in the various cities are as follows:

	Total Local	Total Equalized
Calgary	$52,575,694.00	$45,000,000.00
Edmonton	61,891,965.00	45,000,000.00
Lethbridge	6,463,185.00	5,100,000.00
Medicine Hat	9,213,395.00	5,300,000.00
Red Deer	2,237,060.00	725,000.00
Wetaskiwin	1,207,922.00	720,000.00

NOT FOR LOCAL PURPOSES

It should be made plain that these equalized assessments made by the provincial board are not for the purpose of municipal assessments in making their city assessments, but for the province in levying provincial taxation, and making the burden equal throughout cities, towns, villages, and rural districts.

For the six cities cited above, the total municipal assessments on land values were $133,590,221, whereas the provincial board in equalizing assessments has fixed its figure of totals for these six cities at $101,855,000, a reduction of $31,735,221.

There are 255,288 square miles in the province and the board's report says this embraces an acreage of 163,843,000 acres. The total surveyed land at the end of 1919 being 85,147,818 acres. Of this amount, the dominion government, leased timber licenses on 1,353,100 acres, grazing leases on 2,902,400 acres, forest reserves and parks, 15,754,700 acres; reserves for forestry purposes, 1,077,500 acres; road allowances, 1,276,500 acres; land covered by water, 2,285,050 acres; leaving available land for settlement at 55,898,566 acres.

LOWER VALUES IN RURAL DISTRICTS

In the rural districts of Alberta the board's report says that there are $2,077,443.29 acres of taxable unimproved lands with an equalized assessed value of $591,928,499.71, and in addition there are 410,584.30 acres in subdivided land which is valued at $4,086,770.80.

Altogether the board found that in the municipal districts of the province there were 25,691,221.28 acres of assessable land. In the improvement districts the board found 9,516,121.31 acres of assessable land. This gives the total of 35,207,342.59 acres cited above on which an assessed value has been worked out for the levying of taxes.

The total area occupied by the cities is 70,802.77 acres; by towns, 62,379.55 acres; by villages 35,870.41 acres, and by hamlets in municipal districts, 27,700.06 acres, while improvement districts contain hamlets with 19,160.15 acres.

FIXES ON $15.49 FOR ACREAGE

The board has fixed on $15.49 an acre as the average assessable value of land assessed as acreage. Capitalized at 8 per cent, the report says this would require an average income of $124 per acre or $199.40 a quarter-section of 160 acres from every acre of assessable land in the province. Possible returns fluctuate above and below this figure and the report goes into great detail concerning the care with which the figure was worked out from the immense mass of statistics gathered.

In referring to the work of the board in equalizing assessed values in cities, the report says: "The work of equalization in urban municipalities was very difficult. In determining the total assessed value of lands and other property in such municipalities, it has been the common practice to take the population as the basis. But the board was confronted with the fact that many municipalities with a small population and a very large area, while others with a larger population had a smaller area.

TENDENCY TO SUB-DIVIDE

"It is well known that there has been a tendency to surround urban communities with as much subdivided land as possible to place on the market, and in many cases to subdivide out of all proportion to the requirements of the present or even remote future.

"Moreover, in the days of the boom in real estate, the values placed on land were high enough to enable the holders to make a cash profit at low rate and produce the amount of money desired. There has been a tendency to maintain just as high a valuation as possible on all lots, for the reason that the borrowings of the municipalities have been limited to a certain percentage of the total assessed value of the lands within their bounds, and in addition there has been a very great effort to maintain a high assessed valuation in order to obtain a low rate, rather than have a normal valuation and allow the interest rate to be fixed altogether by the amount of money required.

VALUES MODIFIED

"Further the values placed upon lands in some of the urban municipalities have been modified in view of values placed upon improvements, and of taxes levied upon business. For these reasons, the board could not be guided in any satisfactory way by the values which were placed upon lands by local authorities.

The board has taken into consideration the population, the area, the business transacted within the limits of the municipality, the contiguous territory as related to the business so transacted and many other factors which go to determine the value at which business property and residential property should be so placed, and has arrived at its conclusions after much careful comparison."

LETHBRIDGE NEARLY EQUAL

A review of the equalized figures given in the accompanying for the six cities discloses that the city of Lethbridge was virtually the only one where the board did not find it necessary to put its figures below those of the municipal authorities. Among other interesting points in the report are the following:

Fifty-two towns in the province have local assessed valuations totaling $24,566,026.00 whereas the board's valuation of the same lands is $10,225,000.00.

One hundred and twenty villages in the province have local assessed valuations totaling $7,415,515, but the equalization board's total for the same lands embraced within their borders is $4,964,877.00.

SOME HUGE CUTS

Perhaps the most striking difference on the list is the case of the town of Beverly, near Edmonton, where local land assessments totalled $1,013,350.00 but which the board values at only $101,500.00. In the same class is Bassano, not far from Calgary, where the local assessments totalled $1,302,000.00 and the equalization board's total for the same lands was $188,700. In the same manner, local municipal assessment of Red Deer, near Medicine Hat, which totalled $3,306,550, under the board's method of valuating, totals only $325,500.00.

MEMBERSHIP OF BOARD

The members of the equalization board are: Chairman, J. H. Lamb, deputy minister of municipal affairs; A. J. H. Donahoe, Foremost; W. J. Jackman, Clover Bar; W. D. Spence, Calgary, and S. B. Ferris, Edmonton. It was created on an order-in-council in April, 1920, following legislation passed by the house on the initiative of the late Hon. G. A. MacKay, former minister of municipal affairs. Since its first meeting, the board has held at most continuous sessions up to the time of the completion of the report. The members, after a preliminary survey of the province, visited every municipality, urban or rural, as a whole or by members deputized specially for the work. The report says that the board received the fullest cooperation from the various municipal and local authorities and expresses gratification at the assistance given.

PERFECT HEAD OF HORNE DINOSAUR REACHES TORONTO

Specimen Was Evacuated From the Cliffs of the Red Deer River.

Toronto, Ont., March 31.—There has just reached the Royal Ontario Museum on the head and the forepart of the body of a giant horned dinosaur, which Prof. W. A. Parks, director of the paleontological department, discovered sticking out of a hillside on the Red Deer river, Alberta. The specimen is declared to be the most perfect head of a horned dinosaur so far discovered. Over four feet in length, it is fitted with one large horn and two small ones, with a remarkable frill of bone around the neck.

The quarrying of the rock which surrounded the specimen involved the excavation of a shaft from the top of the cliff. The greatest care had to be exercised in uncovering the skeleton. Each successive inch of bone exposed had to be soaked with shellac to exclude the air. The animal is estimated to have lived three million years ago, and inhabited the shores of a great inland sea which once filled the great basin between the Rocky Mountains and Hudson's Bay.

ELEVEN MILLIONS FOR TELEPHONES AND RAILROADS

1920 Loss in Rural Operation Was Made Up By Urban Charges

To take care of telephone and railway expansions under government control during the present year legislation was asked Wednesday afternoon to provide the sum of $11,512,132.00, the bulk of this to be capital expenditures, with $4,550,000 to be devoted to construction of telephones and $4,752,532 to the improvement of railway lines under provincial jurisdiction and the meeting of fiscal charges on bond obligations.

Premier Stewart gave a candid and complete outline of the situation in the telephone department when the house took up the estimates of the branch. He freely admitted that there had been over-expenditure in telephone construction last year to the extent of about $500,000, but this was due to over-reaching in the projects being carried out and in no way involved any wastage of funds.

LOSS ON RURAL OPERATION

Further along the prime minister stated that the rural portion of the provincial telephone system was not paying its way at the present time and it was inevitable that there would be an increase in rural rates, although this would not be brought into effect during 1921. The loss in rural operation was made up from the urban charges and toll rates, although he forecasted a revision upward of the toll rates this year.

In addition to the $4,550,000 required for new construction the telephone department was voted $2,500,000 from income account to take care of maintenance $400,000; operation $950,000; interest $857,000; sinking fund, $75,000; commission and exchange $15,000; contingencies $4,225, and depreciation and reserve $197,766.

Although the railway estimates were not finally passed before the house rose at 6 o'clock, these included capital charges under the following heads, Lacombe and North-Western railway construction loan $150,000; Waterways loan for construction, interest $18,000; Alberta and Great Canadian, improvement, etc., $2,088,000; bond interest $377,000; Edmonton, Duvegan and B.C. loan for construction, maintenance, etc., $1,600,000; bond interest $500,000.

UTILITIES COMMISSION

Before disposing of the telephone estimates of over $6,750,000 in the space of about fifty minutes, the house spent nearly two hours in battling over the annual protest from George Howland and others from the opposition, to the chairmanship of the selection commission being held by Hon. G. H. V. Bulyea, and over the objections of James Weir to the C.W.V.A. being voted $50,000 for carrying on relief and other work among the returned men. A motion to have the utilities commission reduced to one member, Judge Carpenter, was lost by a substantial majority.

OIL TANKS TO BE PUT UP IN HEART OF THE CITY

To the Editor of The News.

Dear Sir—

Do the people of Red Deer realize the danger of oil storage tanks being put so near the school and in the heart of the city. Should these tanks be put up, it would cause an explosion that might wreck the public school and do other damage to the neighborhood.

When the Imperial Oil Limited, applied for a site, a number of years ago, they were compelled to go to the north side of the river, also the Winnipeg Oil Co. applied for a site about the same time, and they had to erect a shed across the river.

The city of Calgary realized it was dangerous to have the oil companies in the more crowded part of the city and made them obtain their sites out in the west end and in the east end of the city.

Oil tanks in the centre of the city, and tank cars being unloaded, are not only dangerous, but will depreciate the value of property in the neighborhood. Also it will affect the fire insurance of any buildings in the neighborhood.

Other industries will want to locate on the C.N.R. in the neighborhood of the site to be taken by the oil company, but will find that the fire insurance will affect their insurance considerably.

Another great danger is the proximity to the school children playing around. Children are liable to do any thing, and unless there was a constant watch about the oil premises some child might want to see what a good explosion it would make.

A tank car recently ignited and exploded down in Buffalo, N.Y., causing the loss of life and injury to a great many people. Gasoline in a sealed receptacle with an air space is as dangerous as dynamite.

Now is the time to make the proper action before the oil plant is erected, and before a catastrophe happens. Some people think of things too late, and it takes a catastrophe to wake people up.

The cry throughout the world now is: Safety first.

The people of Red Deer are anxious for industries of all kinds, but why not keep the oil companies together in a proper neighborhood? There is plenty of room where the Imperial Oil Limited, have their plant, and any other oil company only has to apply to the railroads to have a spur built on to their lots.

Oil companies will want to locate in this city in the future, and if one company has been made to go across the river, it is unfair to allow other companies to come into the heart of the city.

The Imperial Oil Limited, which has been established in Red Deer for some years, has recently erected large expensive tanks, and is to start this spring the erection of a splendid brick warehouse on their site. But if one oil company is allowed to come into the heart of the city, no doubt the Imperial Oil will want the same privilege, and it has been indicated will defer the erection of their new building until they see whether oil plants are to be allowed in the heart of the city. Come one, come all, then what?

CITIZEN.

UP AGAINST IT. Have you ever been Up Against It? Have you ever exclaimed to yourself, "Oh, what's the use? I can't make the thing go. Life seems to have a grudge against me." Have you ever felt that there is no cheer to cheer you, and no hope for you to hope?

Are you Up Against It? Back up, then. Life, the college of hard, hard knocks—offers the same opportunities to you as it did to Charles S. Schwab, the great steel man, and many others as successful.

You certainly are not dead yet. Your journey is by no means ended. When God put so many obstacles in Job's way, and he wife coaxed him to give up the fight, did Job quit? He did not. He struggled on with more grit than ever before with a firm determination to win out. And he did.

Are you-motoring over the road of difficulty—plug on. There is a detour just two miles further on—a detour to success and happiness.

You'll find the opening to the little path that leads to the detour if you push on.

The next morning the mayor sent to the gatekeeper to ask why the clock was an hour fast.

When he heard what had happened, he ordered a great celebration in honor of the old man who had saved the town. Later on, the people set up a figure under the gate of the city to make them remember their deliverance; a curious figure that once in so often stuck out its tongue as if to mock the memory of the traitors whose plan the quick wit of the old man had spoiled.

FOOTBALL LEAGUE FOR TEAMS FROM LACOMBE TO CARSTAIRS SUGGESTED.

At the annual meeting of the Innisfail Football Club, the question of organizing a football league for teams from towns along the C. & E. from Lacombe to Carstairs, was talked over, and it was unanimously agreed that some such scheme be commenced at once. The secretary was instructed to get in touch with the secretaries of the clubs, and get an expression of opinion from them. Secretaries are, therefore, asked to communicate with Jas. Alex. Laird, Innisfail, if their clubs intend supporting this movement.

There is some word of Innisfail putting up a shield as a trophy if the league can be formed.

Murphy opened his first trap across the Atlantic, and he felt unhesitatingly that he had made a good thing of it. He failed to connect the fact of his being in the briny ocean for the first time with his agency. The doctor came to him as he tossed about in his berth.

"Cheer up, man," he said heartily. "I know you're feeling bad, but you're not going to die."

Murphy opened his eyes. "Not going to die?" he asked. "Faith, doctor, I thought I was! That is the only thing that kept me alive."

The present session of the New Brunswick legislature gives evidence of being the shortest one on record.

LOOK UP AND OUT. Are you sure that you are not keeping your nose down in your work just a little too closely and un-interruptedly? A great many people do so that there is just a chance that you might be of the number. You ought to lift your head and look around you, at least occasionally; indeed you ought to do so seriously. There are great many things in the world that are vastly important beside the work that you are doing, and you ought to be interested in and have something to do with many of them, and the business that shuts them out of your life may not be as necessary or as wise as you are inclined to think it is. One thing is very certain, you will see to do your own worth-while work much more satisfactorily if you do not keep too un-interruptedly close to it. Looking out and up will surely help.

The public session of the Ontario Educational association have gone on record as being in favor of an arbitration board to discuss salary question.

TENDERS FOR FARM LAND

To close out the undersigned will receive tenders marked "Tender for purchase of Bertagnoli Estate," up to April 9th, 1921, for the purchase of S. W. Q. of Sec. 14, Township 23, Range 7, West of 1st Meridian.

Of course, it is the sun that gives the glow of colors to the prism, and the glint of silver and gold to the ice, the raindrops, the river, the ocean, or the forest leaves on the hillside. But, most of all, the warmth and the glowing energy of the sunshine lift up the spirits of every human being and make one feel that it is enormously good just to be alive!

And that alone makes everything seem better and more interesting.

This Spring there is another sun that is shining gloriously, beneficently on all of us:

It is the Sun of Fair Prices for goods.

And it is marvelous the difference that it makes in what we think of things. How much better, finer and more alluring everything is, now that it is so much easier to possess the things we want.

For years we have had to think about how many things it would make us do without, if we made a purchase of certain things, and that took away a lot of the desire for possession.

Now that fatal deterrent is gone. Almost everything is back to the lower prices where there is no longer any virtue in doing without things, and when we don't have to study so long to decide which thing we will buy, because the lower prices make it easy to buy both, or all of the wanted things.

This new sunshine is glowing all over our store, this Spring. That is one reason why it is so much more interesting than it has been for several years.

You will get the feeling and know why when you come in next time. Shall it be to-morrow?
